

Her future
health care
could depend
on you.

Partnering with major pharmaceutical companies as clinical research study sites is one way OrthoIllinois helps secure new and advanced treatments for current and future generations. You can help too. Learn more about current study trials accepting patients and the benefits available.

www.orthoillinois.com/research-center/

Scan the code below to see the condition treatments in clinical trial now accepting patients, and learn more about the benefits available to clinical trial study patients.

